THE LIGHT AT HOME. The light at home, how bright it beams, When evening shades around us fall! And from the lattice, far it gleams To love, and rest, and comfort call. When wearied with the toils of day, And strife for glory, gold, or fame, How sweet to seek the quiet way, Where our loving lips will lisp our name,

Around the light at home. When through the dark and stormy night The wayward wanderer homeward hies, How cheering is that twinkling light Which, through the forest gloom, he spies! It is the light at home-he feels That loving hearts will greet him there; And softly through his bosom steals

Around the light at home. The light at home! whene'er at last It greets the seamen through the storm, He feels no more the chilling blast That beats upon his manly form. Long years upon the sea have fied

The joy that banishes his care,

Since dear ones gave a parting kiss, But the sail tears which then were shed, Will now be paid with rapturous bliss, Around the light at home. The light of home! how still and sweet It peeps from youder cottage door,

The weavy laborer to greet, When the rough toils of day are o'er. Sad is the soul that does not know The blessings that the beams impart-The cheerful hopes and joys that flow, < And lighten up the heaviest heart, Around the light at home.
